As our lives have become more automated and inextricably connected, we value the intentional slowness and presence a copper kettle commands. Your home is the place it's safe to slow down and be the more deliberate version of yourself. Take time to enjoy the beauty of one floor living with thoughtful separations of space and room for a private study to use any way your heart desires. Speaking of desires of the heart, this home has been lovingly crafted with our Romeo & Juliet designer curated interior package, adding a touch of timeless romance to every corner.
